Short Bio of Dr. R.S. Praveen Kumar:

Dr. Kumar is an IPS officer of 1995 batch, India. He is a vet by education; completed his masters in veterinary sciences from the Andhra Pradesh Agricultural University, Hyderabad. He also holds the prestigious Master in Public Administration from Harvard University and is an Edward. S. Mason Fellow.

Dr. Kumar is widely known as the brain behind the success story of the Everest conquerors, Malavath Purna and Sandhanapalli Anand Kumar. Malavath Purna, a 13-year-old tribal student from Nizamabad District in Telangana State, created a spine-tingling history on 25th May, 2014 by becoming the youngest girl in the world to scale the Mount Everest and Anand Kumar is the first boy from APSWREIS to scale Mount Everest. He is also the founder of SWAEROES (Social Welfare Aeroes - Greek for sky) network.

Dr. Kumar chose to serve the cause of education over his lucrative police officer career. His innovative project at TSWREIS had won laurels for imparting quality education in government schools. Students from his schools had consistently shown extraordinary performance and have made it to reputed institutions such as IITs and NITs. Now, in the role of Secretary of Telangana Social Welfare Residential Educational Institutions Society, Government of Telangana, he is replicating his successes in Telangana.
