About the Event

National Science Day is celebrated across India to commemorate the great contribution of scientists like Sir C. V. Raman and many others who have contributed to the spectrum of science. Celebrating National Science Day encourages students to learn more about the importance of science & technology in our life. On the occasion of National Science Day, the School of Sciences, NIT ANP, is organizing the 'Invited Lectures & QUIZ Competition' to spread awareness regarding "Global Science for Global Wellbeing" and to provide a platform to the students of different schools to listen to the lectures from eminent scientists and academicians.

Objectives of the Event

- To spread awareness regarding the scientific innovations of science used in daily life among the students.
- To provide a platform for all students of different schools to come together and display innovative ideas of science & technology through the invited lectures, demonstration of science lab experiments, and QUIZ competitions.
- To give an opportunity to the scientifically-minded students to popularize science and technology towards "Global Sciences for Global Wellbeing".
